A History of the Isle of Man: AD 979 to the Present

Mondays, 6pm-7:50pm

The course provides a detailed overview of Manx history over the last thousand years. It covers all of the main periods and events, and introduces students to the key figures from different eras. Students will explore the sources that are available for the study of Manx history, and will learn how to study some of the relevant documents, from the period of the Vikings through to the present day. The course is taught by Dr Mike Hoy.

The course forms part UCM's BA (Hons) History & Heritage, but is offered here as an independent course. It can be taken for credit (20 credits at Level 5 from the University of Chester) or for interest only. All applicants who wish to take this course for credit will be asked to submit a copy of their CV, or a personal statement

To register for this course, please complete a part-time application form (available online or from UCM Reception) and return it, with payment, to Reception in the main building at University College Isle of Man, Homefield Road.
